

Covid-19 - Responding to the increasing demand of commercial cleaning

Since the recent outbreak of Covid-19, we have received numerous requests from cleaning companies throughout the country to increase their cleaning staff workforce by thousands. We know that safety is top of mind for all retail, warehouses, grocery stores, and other essential businesses at this moment, and we're here to meet these demands. With Syft, our Facilities Management clients are able to instantly access and hire thousands of cleaners across the country.

The Challenges

- Hire on average 23% more cleaners to meet the growing demand
- Respond to last minute staffing requests and provide qualified staff within days
- Maintain one of the industry's lowest no-show rates of less than 3%

The Solution

Our platform allows employers to set up an account for free and gain access to pre-vetted worker profiles in minutes. The smart matching algorithm also ensures jobs only go out to available workers with matched skill sets and experience at the locations where they are wanted. Facilities Management clients have immediate access to thousands of noticeably experienced staff - who, according to the staffing managers, "take a real pride in their work".

Staffing managers have expressed appreciation of the speed of being able to hire talent, which is critical during the time of crisis, when rapid response to staffing demand is essential, as well as the ability to invite their favourite workers back. "Having the same consistent staff impacts the operational side of our business, we are much more productive, as we can spend less time training new starters."

Many clients also prefer the app which enables them to post or edit shifts 24/7, with immediate confirmations if a worker is booked. It is a refreshing experience compared to them usually having to wait for their agency consultants to respond for hours, if not days.
